

Table of Contents

Biography	1
Everything on the Line	1
Farm Boy	2
A Paddling Family	3
Early Sports Involvement	3
Foot Problems	4
Early Canoeing	5
Influence of Marathon Racing	6
School	8
First Kayaking	8
Influence of the Smokes	9
Bruce's Influence	11
Quantity of Training, 1971-73	12
Istvan Granek's Book "Paddling Canoes and Kayaks"	13
Evolution of Technique	13
1975 Junior Worlds	14
Toro Becomes His Coach	15
1977 Junior Worlds	15
1978 Season	16
Beating Bruce	16
Disappointment in 1979	16
Counter-Rotate	16
1980 Olympics	17
The Carter Boycott	18
Viral Illness	19
1983 Season	20
Influence of Paul Podgorski	20
Summa Cum Laude	21
1984 Olympic Year	22
Performance in the '84 Olympics	22
Paddle Business	23

1985 Season — First World Championship Finals	24
Four Year Peak	24
1986 — Switching to the Wing	24
Evaluation by Subjective Feel	26
Moving to California	27
World Champion in the K-1 1,000 and K-1 10,000	27
Group Training	27
Analysis of the Training	28
Norm Bellingham	28
New Zealand	29
All or Nothing	30
New Boats	30
1987 World Championships	31
1988 Season	32
1988 Olympic Games	33
Double Gold	34
Aftermath	34
Looking Back	35

Physiological Principles37

A. Three Energy Systems	37
Measurement of Aerobic/Anaerobic Power	41
Anaerobic Threshold	42
B. Types of Training	43
Intensity Scale	43
Continuous Paddling	43
Variable Intensity Training	44
Interval Training	45
Five Variables	45
Duration of Work Interval	46
Intensity of Work Interval	46
Rest Interval	47
Number of Repetitions/Sets	48
Repeats	48
Time Trials	48
Progressive Overload	49
Discussion	49
C. Muscle	49
Slow-Twitch — Fast Twitch	50
Paddle Relaxed	51
Muscle Elasticity	52
Warm-up/Warm-down	52

Periodizing the Year53

Training Unit	53
Microcycle	53
Macrocycle	55

Training Principles	56
Training Log	57
Purpose of the Log	57
What Goes into the Log	57
How Barton Trains	61
Percent Speed: Barton's Intensity Scale	61
Use of Percent Speed	63
Barton Alternatives to the Energy System	64
Barton's Training Year	64
Examination of the Categories	65
Four Categories of Lifts	66
Changing the Type of Lifts	67
Speed Workouts	68
Endurance Paddles	68
Other Types of Endurance Workouts	69
Technique	72
Outfitting the Boat	72
Seat and Foot Position	73
Footrest	73
Footstraps	74
Positions of the Seat/Footrest Unit	74
Height of the Seat	74
Padding the Seat	75
Experimental Seats	75
Use of the Rudder	75
Differences in the Team Boats	76
The Paddle — Background	76
How the Blade Pivots	78
The Paddle — Constructing and Outfitting One	78
Grip Width	79
Indexing the Grips	80
Offset of the Blades	80
Angle of Attack	80
Weight of the Paddle	81
Break-Apart Paddle	81
Other Equipment — Spray Skirt	81
Forward Stroke Technique	82
Vertical Blade	82
Rotation	82
Avoid Pitching, Rolling and Yawing	83
At the Catch	83
Initiating the Catch	84
The Pull-Through	84
Pumping with the Legs	85
Crossing Over	85

Application of the Power	85
The Finish	86
The Release	86
Summary	86
Modifications	87
Starts	87
Stroke Rates	87
Team Boats	88
Paddling in Waves or Wind	88

Visual Breakdown of Barton's Stroke 89

Mental Preparation 92

Barton's Mental Approach	93
--------------------------------	----

Race Day 96

Double Warm-up	97
Modification of the Warm-up	97
Post Race	98
Race Strategies	98
Pacing	100
Wake Riding	101
Strategies in the 10,000	102
Turns	103

Appendices 104

A Comparison of Training in Slalom, Sprint and Wildwater	104
Barton's 1987 Total Training	106
Barton's 1987 Monthly Workouts	107
Barton's 1987 Water Training Time	108
Barton's 1988 Total Training	110
Barton's 1988 Monthly Workouts	111
Barton's 1988 Water Training Time	112
Last Two Weeks Before 1987 World Championships	113
Last Two Weeks Before 1988 Olympic Games	114

The Barton Mold eBook created by daveyhearn.com with the permission of author William T. Endicott and original publisher USA Canoe Kayak